

SENATORS FAVOR M'CUMBER BONUS

Republicans to Recommend Bill a Little Different From Original

WOULD COST BILLION

Plan Would Provide for Immediate Loans to Veterans of Half Their Share

WASHINGTON, May 2.—President Harding is to be asked by the senate finance committee today to approve a soldiers bonus bill differing from the house measure in minor essentials.

This was decided at a conference of committee Republicans today at which senators said the bonus plan of substituting a 20-year endowment life insurance plan for the adjusted service certificate was disregarded without a record vote. The bonus plan would have provided for no specific loans on the policies.

Favor McCumber Plan.

The measure to be taken in the president is what is known as the McCumber plan, which would provide for immediate loans to the veterans equal to 50 per cent of their adjusted service pay at the rate of $1 a day for domestic service and $1.25 a day for overseas service. At the time of three years, the loan value of the certificate would be 50 per cent of the adjusted service pay plus 4 1/2 per cent interest annually. Joseph McCumber, the government actuary, presented estimates to the committee showing the cost of the McCumber plan for the fiscal year was $77,000,000; $92,000,000 in the second year; $75,000,000 in the third year; and $78,000,000 in the fourth year, with the ultimate cost approximately four billion dollars. These costs include payment on account of death, cash to veterans entitled to not more than $20, vocational training and farm and home aid. The land settlement option has been eliminated from the bill.

House List Presented.

A bonus bill containing approximately 1,000,000 signatures was presented to congressional leaders at the capital at noon today by a delegation of former service men and later was described by the office of the senate clerk. The petition was received by a committee headed by Senator Johnson, republican, California, and representative York, republican, New York, and was presented by Capt. Samuel H. Jacobson, besides Captain Jacobson, speakers at the ceremonies at the main entrance to the capitol included Senator Johnson and Chairman McCumber of the senate finance committee. Speedy action by congress on the bonus question was promised by those who addressed the veterans' committee.

BRITISH OBTAIN RUSS OIL GRANT

At the beginning of the Genoa conference, A. C. Bedford, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, went there for meetings with foreign delegations. It was understood his chief concern was to get rights in Mesopotamia and Persia.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—If reports are true that the royal Dutch-Snell oil group (British owned) have obtained monopolistic privileges in exploration of Russia's vast oil supplies, the United States will make a firm and energetic protest. It was learned authoritatively today.

No Confirmation Yet.

The state department had no confirmation of the reported deal today and in the absence of official information, officials declined to comment on it for publication. Their concern, however, was manifest.

The United States, it was made clear, has no intention of sitting back and allowing British interests to obtain a stranglehold on the world's oil supply merely because Great Britain is represented at Genoa and the United States is not.

Protest Being Prepared.

The United States has already laid the ground work for such a protest which will be made if the deal now reported from Genoa is confirmed.

Secretary of State Hughes forswore a scramble at Genoa for monopolistic concessions and in declining the invitation, he pointedly indicated that any attempt to freeze out the United States would meet with protests.

showy before Tuesday by the outgoing administration. It was followed by Newblock's explanation that the administration's appointees are "the very best men in Tulsa for the salaries paid; they are all good, upright citizens."

Proceeding the inaugural ceremonies, which consumed but a few minutes, the retiring mayor and commissioners selected the business that was easily disposed of without delaying it to a subsequent meeting. During this session the incoming officials sat near the commissioners whose jobs they took over, and watched the method of procedure.

When the time came for the change of officials, retiring Mayor D. Evans asked all elective members of the new administration to stand in line. With their right hands upraised, they took the oath, administered by Evans, to support and defend the constitution of the

Prominent Figures in Trial of Mine Leaders Charged With Treason

In historic old Charleston, West Virginia, where John Brown and his followers were convicted and hanged for treason, many union miners are now facing trial on charges of alleged conspiracy to incite riots and insurrection. Here are three of the prominent figures at the trial. Fred Mooney and Frank Keeney, officials of District 17, United Mine Workers, are among the defendants. Duncan C. Kennedy, secretary of the Kanawha Coal Operators' association, will appear as a witness.

United States and of Oklahoma, and the charter of the city of Tulsa.

The Keys Turned Over.

"We wish you much success and promise you our full co-operation," was the expression of the retiring mayor on behalf of himself and his associates. Each commissioner then personally turned over his office keys to his successor.

Before the new administration transacted any business, Mayor Newblock called on Rev. J. W. Abel, pastor of the First Methodist church, to deliver prayer.

While officials, retiring officials and the crowd that filled the commission room, stood with bowed heads, Reverend Abel prayed that the new administration might be guided by the divine hand. He offered thanks for the magnificent city that has been built here and for the men who have labored constantly that it might grow and prosper. He appealed to the Creator to "help us go forward with each other and with These."

Rudd Makes First Motion.

To Water Commissioner A. J. Rudd fell the honor of making the first motion. He moved that the bonds of members of the new administration be approved. His motion carried unanimously. These bonds previously had been approved by the outgoing administration.

The next matter of business was that of approving bonds of members of the nonpartisan water commission. Bond of A. L. Farmer and H. L. Standeven were accepted at that time. Those of C. S. Avery and G. R. McCullough, the two other members of this commission, were not approved until the afternoon session, as they were not present with those of Farmer and Standeven.

Then followed a rapid-fire confirmation of appointments, virtually all of which were announced several days ago. One of the latest important appointments made was that of Harry L. S. Halley to the position of assistant city attorney. Earlier in the day this job had been offered to another attorney but at the last minute he declined the appointment and Halley was named in his stead.

Appointments confirmed.

Other appointments confirmed and the salaries to be paid are as follows:

J. J. Underwood, city attorney, $5,000 a year.

R. L. Laws, city treasurer, $3,000 a year.

E. Dunn, municipal judge, $250 a month.

W. E. Foreman, police court prosecutor, $175 a month.

Raymond Hogland, police court clerk, $250 a month.

J. L. Martin, assistant court clerk, $150 a month.

Dr. W. W. Woody, superintendent of health, $250 a month.

Frank C. Witter, building inspector, $225 a month.

Frank Moneyworth, plumbing inspector, $225 a month.

G. B. Kain, electrical inspector, $225 a month.

Miss Clara Bostell, chief clerk in the inspection department, $125 a month. This position formerly paid $175 a month.

Reese Moran, chief of police, $250 a month.

J. F. Phathere, manager of convention hall, $125 a month.

Wesley Bush, fire marshal, $175 a month.

Sam L. Patton, sewer inspector, $200 a month.

O. G. Weaver, license inspector and inspector of weights and measures, $200 a month. These formerly

SEIDENBACH WINS PARIS SHOP SUIT

Court Grants Injunction Against Prager and Frees Plaintiff

After more than a month's fight in the district court, J. L. Seidenbach, owner of Seidenbach's ladies ready-to-wear store, won the fight against Paul Prager, formerly owner of Prager's Paris Fashion Shop, also a store catering to women, when District Judge Valjean Biddison yesterday handed down a decision denying an injunction against Seidenbach asked by Prager and granted Seidenbach an injunction against Prager.

The legal clash between the two merchants started March 23, when Seidenbach, who purchased the bankrupt Paris Fashion Shop, advertised a slashing sale of the shop's stock. Seidenbach had purchased the bankrupt concern and in his advertising he published that the goods were from the stock of the Paris Fashion Shop, a corporate concern or known by the trade name of Prager's Paris Fashion.

Prager filed injunction proceedings in district court seeking to enjoin Seidenbach from holding the sale under the name of the Prager Paris Fashion Shop or Prager's Paris Fashion. In his petition he claimed that Seidenbach had purchased only the stock and not the name. Judge Biddison issued a restraining order against the sale being held under those names and before the selling could proceed all tags, price slips and other articles bearing the two names were removed.

In the meantime, Prager had organized a new company bearing the name of the Prager Paris Fashion. Seidenbach asked an injunction against Prager organizing such a company in Tulsa. In his decision yesterday, Judge Biddison held that Seidenbach had purchased the name of the concern as well as the stock and was therefore entitled to their use in his advertising. He also held that Prager had no legal right to the organization of a company bearing such a similar name, at least not in Tulsa. The decision was a total victory for Seidenbach and Prager's counsel took exception to the judge's ruling. It is not known whether an appeal will be taken.

Meet Early in Morning.

There was a round of good-natured banter when it came to decide on the days on which commission meetings are to be held.

Mayor Newblock announced these meetings will be held on Tuesdays and Fridays as has been the custom for a number of years. But he exploded a bombshell when he announced the meetings are to open at 8:30 o'clock in the morning. The usual time of starting is around 10 o'clock.

Street Commissioner J. C. Whitehead at first was vehemently opposed to the early hour and reluctantly agreed to the presentation of a motion designating that time. He apparently was pacified when the mayor intimated this hour may be changed during the winter months.

The only matter of business discussed of aside from confirming appointments, administering oaths and approving bonds was the passage of an ordinance requiring the mayor to issue a proclamation for the forthcoming school election to elect three new directors and vote a bond issue of $275,000 for the school district.

Rudd also made the motion on this project. It was seconded by Police Commissioner Harry W. Kiskaddon.

Angell Street Superintendent.

Street Commissioner J. M. Crutchfield announced the appointment of Angell as street superintendent. Angell was an employee in the post-office when Crutchfield was postmaster.

A large basket of roses was sent to the new commission by John M. Ingram, whose daughter was given a stenographic position in Crutchfield's office. A bouquet of carnations for the new mayor was sent by "a friend," who did not divulge his identity.

The commission room was filled to overflowing during the change of administrations. A number of well-wishers stood in the corridor and watched the meeting through the open door.

Near the close of the afternoon meeting Water Commissioner Rudd verbally handed in his resignation as a member of the library board and suggested that Albert H. Bell succeed him. His suggestion was adopted by the commission.

LITTLE HERBERT A DAPPER FELLOW

Is One of Juveniles to Show Fashions at the Coming Revue

Behold dapperness personified in the young gentleman of the accompanying photograph! Is he not an exquisite, from his knowing walking stick and natty gloves to the high approved hat, white gardenia and glittering expanse of shirt bosom?

"His Highness," or rather "His Little-ness," is not very well known hereabouts as yet, being only three years old, but his father is a leading charm. Child models will be Herbert Renberg, Robert Eugene Lorton, Dan Hunt Camber, David May, Betty Lou Vandever, Betty Kilmer, Mary Katherine Sloan, Virginia Ann Nelson, Eleanor Vandever, Margaret Nelson, Patsy Kersey, Warren Clyde and Richard Eugene Drummond.

Misses' models will number 14. Fifteen debutantes and matrons will display the "principal numbers" in lady's wardrobe, from negligee for the boudoir to evening toilette for the ballroom. The fashion review is not by any means the whole story of the Friday evening event, "the other half" being an artistic reading, vocal solos and dance duets, while after the revue and concert are over a ball will begin.

Flowers will drop from the sky like tears on the grave of Maurice Meyer, Tulsa war martyr, when a thrilling airplane flown by V. N. Johns circles over Roschill cemetery Wednesday afternoon during the last rites for the soldier dead. This week will be the first time locally that the sky has "rained roses" for any but a fallen aviator. Johns, who until Monday was connected with the police force, offered Tuesday to pay this form of respect to the young Tulsa who lay down his life for his country on foreign soil.

Calomel salivation is horrible. It swells the tongue, loosens the teeth and starts rheumatism. There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic—a perfect substitute for calomel. It is a pleasant vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Calomel is a dangerous drug, besides it makes you feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tonic acts better than treacherous calomel your money is waiting for you.—Advertisement.
